

Dear Georgie,

I am writing to you because of this amazing book I have just read. I really think it would fit in with your personality. It is called code name bananas and about a gorilla escaping from a zoo !!! This book has a real sense of humor just like you it is also packed with loads of adventure, sadness and some quite scary parts as well. Please read it.

You really get to know these characters as you go through the book. By the end you know all their weaknesses and strengths. You can't put the book down once you pick it up so I nearly ended up going to bed at 10 o'clock.

There are so many cliffhangers in this book and so many surprises there is even an uncle who looks after wild animals. Parts of it are so funny I nearly ended up falling out of my bed. Please try and get a hold of this book

With love your best friend sophia ♥♥
